Dear EAS Committee,

First, I would like to express my sincere gratitude.

2025 was a truly pivotal year in my athletic journey. I had the privilege of competing in three world-level competitions, achieving a silver medal finish in one of them. It was incredibly rewarding to see the dedication and consistency that my coach, teammates, and I invested—week after week, month after month—come to fruition. I would not have had the opportunity to showcase my abilities on the world stage without the support of the Elite Athlete Scholarship.

Another highlight of the year was the opportunity to spend a week training at Chengdu Sport University alongside one of China's top university teams. The training was both demanding and rigorous, but it proved invaluable. Under the guidance of Coach Qiang Wu, a former World Wushu Championship gold medalist, I gained insight and technical refinement that will continue to influence my development as an athlete.

Looking ahead, I will be competing in the Pan-American Wushu Championships in Buenos Aires, Argentina, with the goal of earning a gold medal. I recognize that the level of competition continues to rise, with younger athletes dedicating themselves to their training and progression. Nevertheless, I am confident that my experience and continued pursuit of high-level skill will position me to perform at my best.

There is still much work to be done. I am also setting my sights on qualifying for and competing at the 2027 World Wushu Championships, scheduled to be held in the Philippines.

While the demands of daily training are tough, many of the most meaningful aspects of my life have come through my commitment to the sport of Wushu.

Sincerely,

Krista Dyer
