Bio:

I am a Bermuda road cyclist and 20-time Bermuda National Champion. I first represented Bermuda in 2011 on the junior national team and earned my first international title in 2012 at the Junior Caribbean Championships. In 2014, I became the first Bermudian to receive a cycling scholarship, joining the Marian University cycling team while completing my degree in education. During my collegiate career, I competed on 15 national championship teams across road, track, mountain bike, and cyclocross.

From 2023 to 2025, I competed on the U.S. professional road and gravel circuit with the domestic elite team LA Sweat, where I earned several significant results across both disciplines. I also continued to represent Bermuda, consistently delivering medal-winning performances at the Caribbean Championships and National Championships every year. In 2026, I will continue to race at the highest level in the U.S. and race for Velocio // Enve. I will continue to target major international events, building on my recent progression and further strengthening my presence on the global cycling stage.
